

MEDIA ADVISORY
September 12, 2008

Media Contacts
Sutter Regional Medical Foundation
Sutter Solano Medical Center
Russell Neilson
707-551-3440
neilson@sutterhealth.org

Sutter Holds Breast Cancer Lecture

VALLEJO, Calif.—This year alone, more than 182,000 women in the U.S. will be diagnosed with breast cancer. That is why you won't want to miss an important breast cancer event Sutter is hosting on September 24, 2008.

Presenting speakers at the event will be A.O. Rawal, M.D., a Harvard-trained radiologist and Maude Blundell, M.S., CGC, genetic counselor. Dr. Rawal will discuss how technology for early breast cancer detection continues to improve and treatment options continue to multiply; and Blundell will discuss the genetic risk factors for breast cancer. This event is hosted in affiliation with Sutter Solano Medical Center and Sutter Regional Medical Foundation.

The lecture will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Sept. 24, at 100 Hospital Drive in Vallejo. Seating is limited, so please call 707-554-5326 to RSVP. Free refreshments and hot hors d'oeuvres will be served. For more information call 707-554-5326 or visit suttersolano.org/cancer.

About Sutter Health

Sutter Regional Medical Foundation and Sutter Solano Medical Center are part of Sutter Health, a not-for-profit network of hospitals, doctors and nurses that share expertise and resources to advance health care quality. Together, we're finding better ways of caring for patients to achieve the best possible outcomes.

###